References

The following books may be useful references. Copies of some books have been placed on reserve in the Barker Library and/or in the Laboratory for Computer Science Reading Room.

The course will also have several lectures on computational geometry and randomized algorithms this year: